BOSTON,

Sept. 25, 1924.

Dear Mr. Lummis:

I have mislaid your little subscription card and I have forgotten whether your book costs $1.00 or $1.50, but I enclose the latter amount which you can adjust if it is too much by sending me two copies, as I should be glad to give one to Mrs. Watson one of your father's Natick friends, whom you may remember as especially intimate with your parents.

I had very great affection for your father whom I knew from boyhood as pastor of my relatives in Natick and elsewhere. I called on him in several of his pastures, including Ashland, Stoneham, etc. He almost always had a Greek class or some beneficent program to stimulate interest and intelligence on the part of his people.

I also became quite well acquainted with your sister who taught for several years under Miss Willard at the Quincy Mansion School, a dozen miles from Boston. If you are in correspondence with her, please remember Mrs. Fisk and myself to her. With kindest regards,

Sincerely yours,

Everett O. Fisk.

Dear Mr. Fisk:

It is very pleasant to have your kind letter of September 25, enclosing subscription for the book of Spanish songs --which I am forwarding to you by the next mail. The price is $1.50, so you were exactly right.

It is always pleasant to hear from one of that innumerable multitude--now far from me in years and distance--who called my father blessed. His was a wonderful life--to have given light and leading and courage and cheer to so many thousands as he did is great riches for one life.

I have not been back in Natick or Ashland or Stoneham or Watertown or Monson in more than forty years; and my life has been so busy since, and so full of change and excitement and varied activities, that those far days seem very shadowy indeed; and it is only now and then that I recall a face or a name of half a century ago.

And my sister Louise, who taught at the Quincy Mansion School has been in Baltimore for the last few years, but I think is now abroad.

Trusting that you will find the charm of these old Folk Songs of California, and with all good wishes,

Sincerely Yours
